

About the Authors

PUSHPA AHARYA holds a PhD in Comparative Literature and South Asian Studies from the University of Toronto. He specializes in the literatures from South Asia and the Indian Ocean World.

Contact: pushpa.acharya@gmail.com

MAGALI SPERLING BECK is an Associate Professor of Literature at the Department of Modern Languages and Literature at Universidade Federal de Santa Catarina (UFSC), Brazil. She holds a PhD in English from the University of Alberta, Canada, and has developed research as visiting scholar at Trent University, also in Canada. Her main research interests include the study of contemporary literary works, especially in an inter-American context, as well as the study of travel and life writing. Her academic work has been published in journals such as Canadian Literature, Canadian Review of Comparative Literature, Interfaces Brasil/Canada, Revista Aletria, among others. She is currently an Associate Editor of the journal Ilha do Desterro: a Journal of English Language, Literature in English and Cultural Studies and has recently coedited the journal's special issue Re-signifying Critical Approaches in Literature, Film, and Cultural Studies (2023).

Contact: magalisperling@gmail.com

JEAN BESSIÈRE is a Professor emeritus in Comparative Literature at the Université Sorbonne Nouvelle, Paris, France, and a Profesor Honorado of Universidad Tres de Febrero-Buenos Aires. He was the President of the International Comparative Literature Association from 1997 to 2000. He is the head of Bibliothèque de Littérature Générale et Comparée (Champion, Paris) and he has authored fifteen books, including Le Roman contemporain ou la problématique du monde (2010), Questionner le roman (2012), Inactualité et originalité de la littérature française contemporaine (2014), Che cos'è la teoria (forthcoming) He edited the special issue of Revue internationale de philosophie, Luckas and the Novel (2018). He coedited two ICLA books (Théorie littéraire: Problèmes et perspectives; Histoire des poétiques), and in cooperation with Gerald Gillespie, Contextualizing World Literature (2015). His research interests are in cultural interferences, literary theory and studies in the novel. He defends a specific approach to literature, which relies upon the notion of enigmaticity, an extensive redefinition of mimesis, and comparative references to the anthropological frames that literary works disclose.

Contact: jean.bessiere@sorbonne-nouvelle.fr

SAMUEL BIDAUD is Associate Professor of linguistics at Palacký University Olomouc and lecturer in Old French at the University Center of Mayotte. He is particularly interested in the works of José Mauro de Vasconcelos, Hergé and the Czech writer Jan Čep, of whom he has translated several short stories into French. He also collaborates with journals such as Quinzaines: lettres, arts et idées, L'Atelier du roman and Critique.

Contact: bidaudsamuel@gmail.com

MARIJA BUDIMSKI received her BA (2020) and MA (2021) in the English language and literature at the Faculty of Philosophy, University of Niš, Serbia, and is currently enrolled in PhD studies, focusing primarily on British literature, gender studies and feminist literary theory and criticism. She works as a Junior Researcher at the Department of English, Faculty of Philosophy.

Contact: marija.budimski@filfak.ni.ac.rs

ANELISE REICH CORSEUIL is a Professor of Literatures in English and Film Studies at the Department of Modern Languages and Literature and at the Graduate Program in English, both at Universidade Federal de Santa Catarina (UFSC), Brazil. Her research interest is on Film and Literary Studies, more specifically on the geopolitics of representation of cultural aspects of Latin America and the USA in contemporary narratives. She has coordinated international agreements under CAPE – FIPSE, Fulbright and the British Council involving UFSC and universities abroad. She has published articles and books in Brazil and elsewhere and she is the Chief-Editor of Ilha do Desterro: A Journal of Literatures in English, English Language and Cultural Studies.

Contact: hcorseuil@terra.com.br

M. ÀNGELS FRANÉS DÍEZ has a PhD in Catalan Studies and a Degree in English Studies. She is a senior lecturer at University of Alicante, and a member of the Valencian Academy of Language. She has specialized in Contemporary literature, Gender Studies and Cultural Studies. Her publications include Feminisme i literatura: L'hora violeta, de Montserrat Roig (2010) and Montserrat Roig: feminisme, testimoni i memòria (2012, was awarded the Prize for Linguistic and Literary Studies at the 12th Critics' Awards of the Interuniversity Institute of Valencian Philology, 2014). She is a researcher in the project "El canon literario no académico: construcción, características, responsables, selección y recepción en los epitextos públicos virtuales", supported by the Spanish Ministry of Science and Innovation.

Contact: angels.frances@ua.es

JONATHAN LOCKE HEART, University of Toronto/Harvard University, is a writer and scholar, Honorary Professor, School of Translation Studies, Shandong University and was Chair Professor there (2020–2024) and was Director, International Cooperation Centre for Cross-Cultural Studies and Digital Humanities, Shandong University. Prof. Heart is a Fellow of Royal Society of Canada, Member of Academia Europaea, Senior Fellow of Abigail Adams Institute, Life Member of Clare Hall, University of Cambridge. He has held appointments or visiting appointments at Amity University (Rajasthan), University of Macau, Peking University, Shanghai Jiao Tong University, University of California (Irvine), Leiden, Sorbonne-Nouvelle (Paris III), Princeton and elsewhere. Prof. Heart values his visits to University of Tartu and his affiliation with Interlitteraria. He is the author of many books and articles, for instance, Poèmes de Paris (2024) and J. Hillis Miller and the Play of Literature (2024). Publications in process: The Virginia Star; Language in Literature; Poetry and Culture in Britain, Canada and the United States: 20th and Early 21st Century Literature; The Language of Colonization: From Interpoetics to Translation; Poetry and Poetics.

Contact: jonathan_hart@harvard.edu

XIAOLING HU is a PhD student at Department of English, Faculty of Modern Languages and Communication, University Putra Malaysia; a teacher at School of Foreign Languages, Neijiang Normal University, Sichuan, China. Her main research interests include English Literature and Cultural Geography.

Contact: gs58991@student.upm.edu.my

SANJA IGNJATOVIĆ currently works as an Assistant Professor at the Department of English and is a Vice-Dean for Science and Research at the Faculty of Philosophy at University of Niš, Serbia. Her research interests include literary theory, postmodern poetics and gender studies, Canadian literature and cognitive poetics as an interdisciplinary approach to literary analysis. The courses she teaches at the English Department include Introduction to the Study of Literature (BA), Canadian Studies (BA), British Studies (BA), British Culture - Visual Approach (BA), Academic Writing (BA), Text Analysis – Cognitive-Narratological Approach (MA), Research Paper Methodology (MA).

Contact: sanja.ignjatovic@filfak.ni.ac.rs

KLAARIKA KALDJÄRV has graduated from the University of Tartu where she works currently as lecturer of Spanish at the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures where she mainly teaches courses of literature of the Spanish-speaking countries and translation. She completed the doctoral program “Translation, Society and Communication” University of Granada and defended her PhD in 2007 on the problems of stability of the fictional world and its narrative structure in translation (Author, Narrator, Translator: The Autofictions of Borges in Estonian). She has also translated into Spanish works of Tartu-Moscow Semiotic School and into Estonian works by Julio Cortázar (Hopscotch) and Roberto Bolaño (The Savage Detectives). Her main research interests are problems of literary translation and its reception and functioning in the society (the influence of the norms on translational behavior, the evaluation of the translations, the relationship between translated and non-translated literature etc.)

Contact: klaarika.kaldjarv@ut.ee

GEMMA LLUCH is a Professor at the University of Valencia, Spain. She teaches at the Department of Catalan Studies and develops her research at the ERI-Reading. She has five six-year periods of research and research transfer. She focuses her research on the non-academic canon, policies and promotion of reading and libraries. She is PI of the research project “El canon literario no académico: construcción, características, responsables, selección y recepción en los epítextos públicos virtuales”, supported by the Spanish Ministry of Science and Innovation. More information in <http://www.gemmalluch.com/>

Contact: gemma.lluch@uv.es

DANIELA PETKOVIĆ, PhD, is currently employed as Associate Professor at Faculty of Philosophy, University of Niš, Serbia, where she teaches, inter alia, Victorian Prose, Medieval English Literature, and Modern Anglophone Children’s and Young Adult Prose. She is the author of the monographs Power Relations/Fantastic Education: Child, Childhood, English Children’s Fantasy and Didactics (2017), and The Critical Aspects of neo-Victorian Fiction (2020). She has published papers in academic journals and conference proceedings, as well as chapters in several edited volumes. Her research interests centre on Victorian and neo-Victorian literature; children’s and young adult literature; fantasy; gender studies, and critical animal studies.

Contact: danijela.petkovic@filfak.ni.ac.rs

MOHAMED SEMLALI est professeur-chercheur à la Faculté des Lettres et des Sciences humaines, Université Moulay Ismaïl – Meknès, Maroc. Il y enseigne la langue française, la littérature francophone et la littérature comparée. Il a publié plusieurs études consacrées à la littérature mondiale et surtout à la littérature marocaine, il est notamment l’auteur de plusieurs articles qui analysent les textes de Khatibi, Khair-Eddine, Chraïbi, Laroui, Binebine et d'autres.

Contact : mohamed.semlali@usmba.ac.ma

ARBAAYAH ALI TERMIZI is an Associate Professor and PhD supervisor at Department of English, Faculty of Modern Languages and Communication, University Putra Malaysia. Her main research interests include Shakespeare Studies, Theatre Adaptation and Interdisciplinary Literary Research.

Contact: arbaayah@upm.edu.my

SHANG WU teaches at the College of Foreign Languages, University of Shanghai for Science and Technology, China, and holds a fellowship at the International Cooperation Centre for Cultural Studies and Digital Humanities, Shandong University. Her research include Asian American studies, translation theories, and travel writing. Wu's recent publications include 'Writing Travel as Janus: Cultural Translation as Descriptive Category for Travel Writing' in Interlitteraria, 'Revisiting Asian American Poetics: A Review of Heterogeneity and a Case of Russell Leong' in Canadian Review of American Studies.

Contact: wushang198811@gmail.com

GHULAM YASIN is a PhD student at the University of Sindh, Pakistan, and also serves as an Assistant Professor of English in the Higher Education Department of Punjab.

Contact: ghulam.yasin@scholars.usindh.edu.pk